

LIFE AIN'T FAIR

Twins Justin and Jamie Meeks, 14, had it all. Great parents, a wonderful school and lots of friends until everything was suddenly and tragically ripped away from them. Separated and living in foster care, their lives spiraled into depression, bullying and abuse. Thanks to a caring Social Worker, Karen Jones, the twins have found a new home with their great aunt Bessie – an uneducated mountain woman they never met. Dirt poor and living off the land, Bessie must teach the children a new way of life totally unplugged, without modern conveniences and the need to hunt in order to survive. The never married Bessie must traverse the ups and downs of teaching children to overcome their deep scars and painful loss. LIFE AIN'T FAIR is a journey of pain, discovery, and love in the mountains of Tennessee.
